EDII to join hands with corporates: The Entrepreneurship Development Institute of India (EDII), a Centre of Excellence recognised by the government, on Friday announced it will join hands with corporates to create 10,000 women-led green businesses across 100 districts in the country in 1,000 days. EDII Director, Department of Project (Corporates), Raman Gujral emphasised on the growing requirement for high-end value-added products and services in the market with minimal environmental harm. EDII Director General Sunil Shukla said the institute has been successfully offering entrepreneurship and skill development training to artisans, weavers, women start-up founders, and the unemployed, leading to sustainable livelihood options for them.
