Addressing the gathering, Prof. (Dr.) Toolika Gupta Director, Indian Institute of Crafts and Design, Jaipur said, "India is a land of craft, skills, competencies and a high entrepreneurial inclination. We need to show a direction to entrepreneurial minds, which is where entrepreneurship education becomes critical. I encourage the young people to exhibit an entrepreneurial approach to addressing the problems around them. When it comes to nurturing good ideas, training young people, and supporting them to help them become successful new age entrepreneurs, EDII is doing an incredible work for which I appreciate their efforts. I am happy to collaborate with EDII so that students of my Institute get the necessary training."

On the occasion, Dr. Sunil Shukla, Director General, EDII, Ahmedabad, said, " Today young students are quite aware and often think out-of-the-box. A little handholding and direction can orient them to entrepreneurial values and competencies that can give them the required thrust towards entrepreneurship. EDII is happy to be a part of accelerating the country's culture of startups and entrepreneurship by providing potential entrepreneurs with the right skill sets to help them move forward on the path of new enterprise creation and management.'
